Professor Ibraheem Gambari, Chief of Staff to the President of Nigeria, Commissions ICT lab for students of Perfect Memorial School, Mwari, Bauchi State

Professor Ibrahim Gambari, the Chief of Staff to the President of Nigeria, today, commissioned a modern 30-computer systems ICT lab for students of Perfect Memorial School, Mwari, Bauchi State.

The ICT lab, remodeled by YouthHubAfrica, was funded as part of Huawei Technology Nigeria Limited's Corporate Social Responsibility plans in Nigeria. Huawei provided ICT facilities for students, and YouthHubAfrica remodeled one of the existing buildings into a modernized ICT Lab where its students can access digital education; building and expanding their digital skills and knowledge.

Speaking at the occasion, Professor Gambari, Chief of Staff to the President of Nigeria, thanked Huawei for this initiative and opined this ICT lab offers an opportunity for students from the corner of Bauchi State to remain connected to the global world and have the requisite skills and knowledge to compete favorably with their peers across the globe.

He further reiterated President's commitment to prioritizing Human Capacity Development through investment in quality education across the country. Huawei's approach is consistent with this philosophy, by providing high-quality facilities and ICT laboratories to open a scientific window for students. Huawei has been making positive contributions to the local community and setting a good model in Nigeria.

The remodeled lab was equipped with 31 computers, 17 UPS, 1 Projector, and 1 Projector Screen. With the commissioning of the ICT lab, students will be able to learn about digital skills that will better position them for the future of work.

As part of his remarks at the school commissioning, Kelvin Yang, Huawei Technologies' Deputy Managing Director, said that the initiative would provide the youngsters with unparalleled resources for teaching, research, learning, and other academic needs. It is a demonstration of our collective goal to enhance ICT knowledge in the educational institution". He commended Professor Ibrahim Gambari, The Chief of Staff for his tremendous support and emphasized that the federal government attaches great importance to the cultivation of ICT talents, especially helping young students master ICT technology and knowledge, which is very important to the Nigerian people."

In his opening remarks, Rotimi Olawale, Executive Director of YouthHubAfrica, expressed the hope that the student of the citadel of learning benefitting from this initiative would emerge to become productive members of their community and at the frontline of the digital revolution in Africa.

Best Regards,

Rotimi Olawale,
Executive Director
